That the outcome of each day often depends on the choices we make? We know happiness is an inside job – it is our decisions on how we live our life that determines our personal and professional success. As a writer, you may spend time in creating someone else’s journey; it is now time to learn how to write your own! Changing attitudes, taking responsibility, making authentic choices, and finding inspiration are not always easy. With an engaging mix of personal experiences, real life examples, and surprising facts, Jean shares her tips on becoming positive and shows us how to step up, run wild and live our precious lives to their fullest. Room 7300 - Cultural & Performing Arts Center	George Saunders Keynote at Cal Poly (Add on price of $30.60 or $48.60) The beloved cult author known for surreal short stories about American nuttiness — is the master of joy bombs: little explosions of grin-stimulating genius that he buries throughout his deeply thoughtful, endlessly entertaining flights of imagination. His fourth story collection, Tenth of December, brims with laboriously constructed nuggets that will make you beam with unmitigated glee. . . . an irresistible mix of humor and humanity. George was selected by Entertainment Weekly as one of the 100 top most creative people in entertainment, and by The New Yorker in 2002 as one of the best writers 40 and under. In 2006, he was awarded both a Guggenheim Fellowship and a MacArthur Fellowship. In 2009 he received an Academy Award from the American Academy of Arts and Letters. His novel Lincoln In The Bardo is out now and taking the country by storm. Cal Poly Performing Arts Center
